CEC launches International Eco Commerce Center Initiative

October 20, 2011, Atlanta, Georgia - Chamber of Eco Commerce (CEC) --- The world's leading Eco Commerce organization, has launched a new initiative to launch Eco Commerce Assistance Centers worldwide.

Atlanta, Georgia is the first location for the international Eco Commerce Center, through which the CEC hopes to offer stakeholders, partners, and customers assistance in cross border trade.

Eco Commerce Assistance Centers will provide specialist business services to support the growing number of companies that want to do Eco Commerce internationally as well as foreign companies seeking to do business in the US.

CEC serves individuals and organizations worldwide. CEC's aim is to make it just as simple to trade abroad as it is to do business domestically and the Eco Commerce Centers will go a long way towards achieving this. With CEC's in-depth local knowledge and strong international network and expertise, CEC is committed to supporting individuals and organizations in their Eco Commerce expansion.

Companies are invited to join Eco Commerce Centers which will offer assistance services to both local residents and visiting internationals through the following: Grant use of business offices, conference rooms, technology and resources to visiting international business delegates; Cultivate a hub for international organizations to grow relationships where those relationships might not grow normally; Provide meeting space for monthly meetings of international groups; Provide a variety of support including networking, contacts, resources, technology, funding and education; Create specialized events for the intention of catalyzing growth of individual business and the overall international community. Initially the Eco Commerce assistance services will be offered in US, Canada, EU, China, Russia. By the end of 2012 the CEC hopes Eco Commerce Centers will have been rolled out in all continents.
